Panelart

Melamine Panels

Parbury PANELART® melamine panels are the quality choice for kitchen manufacturers who produce their own doors and panels. PANELART® is a multipurpose melamine board for many decorative uses around your home, from kitchen and laundry cupboards, to wardrobes, furniture and general joinery. Made in Australia using moisture resistant MDF board, PANELART® features a low-lustre surface texture that accentuates the depth of colour while retaining its hard-wearing, low maintenance qualities.

Performance

PANELART® panels feature a fine textured surface finish that is hard wearing for long life and easy cleaning. The PANELART® range is manufactured using quality moisture resistant MDF board. PANELART® is made to resist the tough punishment that kitchens endure.

Edge Treatment

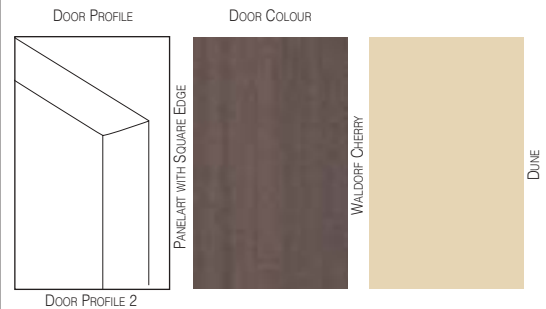

As wide as your imagination! – PANELART® can be cut and then edged in a variety of materials. From traditional slim melamine edges to the contemporary choice of solid 2mm Dura Edge plastic edging. Dura edge comes in co-ordinating Panelart colours, or new to the range, 2 exciting contrasting edging designs (see page 4 for more details). Panelart can also be edged in solid timber or natural timber veneers for a distinctive individual look. Your joinery or kitchen manufacturer can discuss the full range of edge treatments available for your kitchen design.

Colours

Available in 78 colour options from bright whites and softer tones, through to vibrant colour, contemporary patterns and realistic woodgrains...see page 6 to 9 of this brochure.

Hardform

Round & Square Edge Doors

Parbury HARDFORM® Doors and Panels are formed from durable Panelart® melamine board. HARDFORM® Doors and Panels are custom manufactured to suit your kitchen design. HARDFORM® is produced with parallel rounded edge profiles for a softer look to your kitchen, including the option of full 180-degree rounded end-panels for a completely integrated design! HARDFORM® can also be manufactured with contemporary square edges on all sides of your doors and panels.

Performance

HARDFORM® doors and panels are formed and edged to ensure high moisture resistance, ensuring a long life in even the toughest kitchen environments.

Edge Treatment

HARDFORM® profiling eliminates the sharp, square corners from doors and panels, making your kitchen safer for children. Choose either the slim look of Melamine edges, or the soft, rounded look of Dura Edge™ - a tough, impact resistant 2mm thick finish that adds a smoothly rounded edge to your HARDFORM® kitchen. Both Melamine and Dura Edge™ treatments can be used to make doors and panels with all square edges.

Edge Profiles

HARDFORM® doors and panels are available in two profile designs, with the option of two styles of edge finish. The 'L' profile is suitable for all door applications, and the 'U' profile is perfect for end panels because it extends HARDFORM's soft, rounded look throughout your entire kitchen. For a more contemporary look, square edges can be used on all 4 sides of your doors and panels.

Colours

Available in 78 colours...see page 6 to 9 of this brochure.

10 Year Guarantee

Parbury warrants to the original purchasers of its COLORFORM® doors, that they are fit for their purpose when installed in a domestic dwelling and are free from defects of design, workmanship or manufacture. If any visible defect is notified to us prior to installation we will supply a replacement COLORFORM® door. If a defect becomes apparent after installation, and is notified to us within 10 years of first installation, we will supply a comparable product from the available range.

Heat deflection around ovens

Some flush mounted ovens are not designed to deflect heat away from surrounding surfaces. Parbury recommends the installation of a 20mm x 20mm stainless steel deflector adjacent to all underbench ovens. Please refer to the detail C for the recommended fitting details. This deflector is available from all Parbury Branches. Heat damage from ovens, rangehoods or appliances is not covered by Colorform warranty.

Please note. Colorform® warranty will be void if a deflector is not installed where recommended.

Cornice Capping

Also available in the COLORFORM® range is co-ordinating cornice which has the option of showing either a traditional profile or a bullnose profile. This capping can also be utilised for pelmets. (Dual - purpose, reversible).

(Colour Matching and Co-ordination)

In modern kitchen design, matching painted or melamine surfaces can be combined with Colorform® panels in a single colour co-ordinated construction. Although great effort is made to obtain accurate colour matches in these materials, the individual surfaces can age differently over time. As a result, colour change between differing materials is not covered by Colorform® warranty. Parbury always recommend that to achieve the most consistent long term colour co-ordination in your kitchen, best practice is to ensure all decorative panels are manufactured from the same Colorform® material.
